

OPEN REEL PROFESSIONAL TAPE RECORDERS

WHY TO BUY?

The "mother" of all media is the magnetic tape; since the beginning of stereophonic era, recordings have been made on magnetic tapes by professional tape recorders which, with good reason, may still be defined as the "mother" of all sources.

The tape was the "master" to arrive, through various processes, to the vinyl LP that, still nowadays, delights the ears of audiophiles.

The digital switchover has in no way dampened the superiority of this medium compared to the numerical technique; most of the analog recordings made by the mid 50's until the early 80's are still considered unsurpassed.

Owning an Open Reel Professional Tape Recorder, fully serviced and perfectly calibrated, offers the best listening levels EVER!

HOW TO BUY THEM

All recorders we sell are completely revised even if, to a first control, they appeared perfectly working. For each Studer machine also comes the original service manual in digital form on a CD-ROM together with the report containing all the measurements performed at the end of the service that certifies the performance in compliance with the specifications provided by the manufacturer at the time .

You will not find this type of approach elsewhere because it is very expensive and it isn't often properly valued by the potential buyer. However, it significantly affect the final sonic performance and therefore we consider it indispensable .
