THE ITALIANS HOLIDAY

With August now well underway and temperatures approaching 40 degrees throughout Italy, several million Italians have left this year to enjoy their well-deserved holidays, leaving behind the chaotic cities, which this month become almost deserted, to get to cooler places, whether by the sea or in the mountains. If today, however, the holiday is considered a routine for many, in recent decades this was not the case. The practice of vacation begins to spread in the years of fascism with the OND (Opera Nazionale Dopolavoro) that led the Italians to the sea, but the real change came with the economic boom since the 50s. In those years, in fact, began to open the first bathing establishments on the Adriatic with prices that were such as to ensure rest and refreshment for workers and employees, thus ending up being the exclusive prerogative of the well-off classes. All this has also been possible with the spread of cars and motorways, with the first snakes of cars being created every year since then. A ritual therefore, that of the holiday, eagerly awaited!

RECIPE OF TODAY

Pepper with tomatoes and olives

(da Velocissimo.it)

Ingredients: 1kg of yellow peppers, 250gr of cherry tomatoes, 2 cloves of garlic, 1 onion, black olives, salt, pepper, extra virgin olive oil Cantina Coppola

After having blanched the peppers on the heat, remove their skin. Cut them into large strips. Put in a non-stick pot extra virgin olive oil, whole garlic and very thin sliced red onion. Light over low heat and heat without burning, remove the garlic and add the cherry tomatoes cut in half, add with whole black olives. After a while add the peppers and mix with a wooden spoon, add salt and pepper. Leave to cook for about 5 minutes. They can be served hot or cold.

LOCALITÀ PONTE CIOLO

The variety of the coast is one of the distinctive features of Salento, thanks to its golden beaches and rugged cliffs, high and low. One of the most beautiful places on the southern part of the Adriatic coast is Cioio, not far from Santa Maria di Leuca. Here you will find clear waters, as in the rest of the Salento, but these will be surrounded by very high rock walls. The bay in question has a cove which can be accessed by a flight of stairs, while above there is a bridge, almost 40 meters high, from where there is the bad and dangerous habit of diving, despite the prohibitions. Nearby there are also caves, such as the Prazziche, the Grande and the Piccola, reachable by sea. We recommend a bath with mask and mouthpiece, to observe the seabed.
