“STREGA” AWARD, NOVELS AND PRIZES

Reading a good book gladdens many evenings of campers, to reconcile a cool summer night and the desire to travel not only with the camper but also with the mind with pink, yellow or wise novels, according to the various tastes. However, there is no better way to choose a book than to rely on the advice of experts in the field and the various awards with which the best books are awarded each year, including of course, there is the Strega Prize. Also this year, at the Villa Giulia Nymphaeum in Rome, the Premio Strega, the most prestigious literary award in Italy and one of the best known in the world, saw the triumph of a woman, Helena Janeczek, an Italian naturalized German writer, with her book "La ragazza con la Leica" (The Girl with the Leica), a novel taken from the story of Gerda Taro, the first photojournalist who died on war grounds at the age of 27 in 1937. A woman who wins with the story of a woman. In second place was Marco Balzano with "I'll stay here" and Sandra Pretigiani with "La corsara, portrait of Natalia Ginzburg".

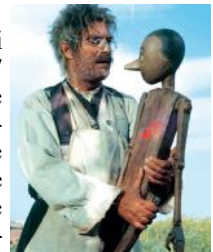

TODAY, IN HISTORY

Horoscope, what the stars say

Today's sign is SCORPION. Pay attention to your finances, you have a lot of expenses and you have to manage everything wisely, even if you have margins if you want to take away some of your whims.

The first episode of "La storia di un buattino" was published 137 years ago in the weekly "Giornale per bambini" (Children's newspaper), confirming the birth of the classic of Italian literature "Pinocchio" by Carlo Collodi, the inspiration behind numerous cartoons and films.

RECIPE OF TODAY

Artichokes with pepper, eggs and grated pecorino cheese (da Velocissimo.it)

Ingredients: 6 artichokes, 1 lemon, 1 clove of garlic, extra virgin olive oil of Cantina Coppola, parsley, 3 eggs, salt, black pepper, grated pecorino.

Dissolve Remove the leathery leaves of the artichokes, cut into pieces and put with water and lemon to prevent them from blackening. Boil in water and salt and allow to dry on absorbent paper. Fry in a pan with extra virgin olive oil and chopped garlic. After about 5 minutes put a tablespoon of chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Mix well, then add the beaten eggs, salt and cheese. Cook over low heat until the eggs begin to harden. Serve immediately.

SANTA CATERINA DI NARDÒ

Exclusive seaside resort of the town of Nardò awarded with 4 Sails, Santa Caterina is enclosed between the homonymous lookout to the south, surrounded by fragrant pine forest, and Torre dell'Alto to the north, at the gates of the Park of Portoselvaggio. On the low and rocky coast stands a small sandy bay where there is a bathing beach that also leaves space to the free beach. The water is turquoise and transparent while in the shallow waters that slowly slope the sand immediately gives way to rocks and rocks. On the cliff to the right and left of the bay there are two private clubs and, a little further on, there is the marina which is the backdrop to the boats of fishermen Neretini. The settlement was born as a defensive outpost, with the two towers that rise on two promontories, the tower of the high and the tower of Santa Caterina, wanted by the Spanish to defend themselves mainly from the Ottomans, who used to make raids in these territories.
