The Nautilus Family Hotel is a design hotel, built according to the principles of green building, with 96 rooms, garage (41 parking spaces), restaurant, nursery, bar, swimming pool, indoor play area and outdoor garden for children with kids club and entertainment. 2 buildings of 6 floors, 4 elevators (3 for disabled). The wood used for the Nautilus Hotel (788 cubic meters) has been worked in laminated panels, assembled using only water-based glues. The result is a solid but flexible building and a load-bearing structure able to resist fire for longer. In addition to the anti-seismic strength, the energy saving values are particularly advantageous, especially for a hotel that must maintain ideal air conditioning conditions throughout the year.

The insulating power of wood, in this case, minimizes the use of air conditioning in summer and heating in winter, maintaining optimal values of humidity in every area of the building and lowering consumption in favor of a reduction of environmental pollution. The Nautilus Family Hotel is also a Bike Hotel: equipped to host cyclists, it has a corner for washing bikes, a mechanic's workshop, a guarded storage area and an express laundry.

Designed for customers looking for spaces to organize successful events and meetings away from the chaos of the historic center, the hotel has 4 modular rooms, with natural light, 3.20 m high.
